

In this issue

Issue 219 Spring 2024

Compass

15 Editorial

Introducing a Turkish-themed issue to coincide with June's International Conference on Oriental Carpets XV in Istanbul

29 Dialogue

Inger McCabe Elliot; art installation by Issam Kourbaj at Kettle's Yard, Cambridge; 'Carpets and Collections of the Swiss Alpine Area' ICOC tour in September; Abegg-Stiftung Special Exhibition; Royal Tapestry Factory commission delivered in Dresden

32 Diary

HALI's recommendations for the quarter

35 Calendar

The listings page for carpet- and textile-related auctions, exhibitions and events

36 Thread of time

Rachel Meek

Two luxurious silk- and metal-thread textiles tell of serious sibling rivalries between the heirs to two thrones and their brothers

38 Travellers' tales

Markus Voigt

A whistle-stop tour of northern European art fairs, museum exhibitions and discussion forums

50 Profile

Rachel Meek

İHİB chairman and kilim champion Ahmet Diler represents the intrinsic value of Turkish handwoven carpets on the national and international stage

54 Anatomy of an object

Deniz Türker

A 19th-century Ottoman embroidered sampler in the Fitzwilliam Museum, Cambridge

56 Common thread

With many people set to embark on a rug odyssey throughout Turkey as part of the ICOC XV, we select a few unusual rugs that might be on display at various public and private institutions included on tours and within the main programme

Features

60 ICOC XV Istanbul

Exhibitions and events taking place during the International Conference on Oriental Carpets XV

68 A Lotto for our times

Michael Bischof

A faithful replica of a 16th-century 'Lotto' carpet

74 Natural history

Havva Furat Ay

The Sadberk Hanım Museum is preparing to exhibit Anatolian kilims collected by Josephine Powell

82 Stories in a free language

Cosima Stewart

Çırpı: a singular form of Anatolian weaving

90 Oya: a language of Anatolian women

Oya Project

Adnan Memiş, a Turkish banker, has developed a passion for Anatolian oya, a type of needle lace

138

82

124

96
New perspectives

Stefano Ionescu
A new book consolidates and expands our knowledge of the 'Transylvanian' genre

102
The art of display: Navajo child's blankets

Joshua Baer
An exemplary exhibition at Taos Art Museum

106
Shining examples from the East

John E. Vollmer
Asian textiles from the Myrna and Sam Myers Collection, donated to The Textile Museum

112
Dynastic dragons

Jimmy Nuo Zang
Detailed symbolism in Qing-dynasty court attire

120
When women wore fish

Andreas Marks
Singular and rare fish-skin garments crafted by the Nivkh people of northeast Asia

124
Mysteries and mastery

Rui Miguel Lobo
Untangling the origins of embroidered Portuguese Arraiolos carpets

134
Cutting edge

Peter Umney-Gray
Textile containers for the implements used by nomadic peoples to shear their sheep

138
An artist's journey

Elena Phipps
James Bassler's art has evolved with his continuing interest in indigenous textiles

148
Out of the shadows

Theresa Kutasz Christensen
The exhibition 'Making Her Mark' seeks to highlight both the creativity of women and the prejudicial thinking of the past

154
Grass and wool

Michele Hardy
Kyrgyz textiles donated by Dr John Sommer to the University of Calgary, Alberta

158
Book reviews

Three titles from the Vehbi Koç Foundation and Sadberk Hanım Museum reviewed by Penny Oakley

162
Exhibition reviews

'Fashioning San Francisco: A Century of Style' at de Young/Legion of Honor, Fine Arts Museums of San Francisco, reviewed by Alan Kennedy

164
Auction reports

Daniel Shaffer
An overview of Kum Kapı rugs at auction ahead of Christie's sale of the George Farrow Collection

168
Fair previews

The ICOC XV dealers' fair in Istanbul

172
Auction Price Guide

International auction results of note

184
Last page

The Karun Thakar Fund is offering grants towards the study of Asian and African textiles

Reviews & Marketplace

