

In this issue

Issue 221 Autumn 2024

82

Compass

13 Editorial

Why we should never forget how collectors and collecting are vital to the appreciation of textiles from the past—and their preservation for the future

23 Dialogue

Asian Art in London 2024; Fowler Museum at UCLA permanently returns cultural objects to Australia's Warumungu community; vestments restored at the Royal Tapestry Factory; IASSRT and ATTS in Vientiane, Laos

26 Diary

HALI's recommendations for the quarter

29 Calendar

Auctions, exhibitions and fairs including rugs

32 Thread of time

Lucy Upward

Considering their convenience and protective qualities, baby carriers made a surprisingly late appearance in the West

34 Travellers' tales

Malin Lonnberg

Well-preserved treasures in the Swiss Alps

40 Profile

James Opie

George Jevremovic's Woven Legends brought remarkable success to the natural-dye movement, while his auction house, Material Culture, is an important part of today's market

45 Comment

Rachel Meek

A nomadic lifestyle instigated the desire to learn a heritage craft rooted in specific landscapes

46 Anatomy of an object

Ben Evans

An exceptional 18th- or early 19th-century suzani

48 Common thread

Across a variety of cultures, snakes have been regarded with respect—whether out of fear of their sometimes poisonous nature, associations with evil, or as symbols of protection

Features

52 Seen as a whole

Sarah Molina

Recently published carpets and textiles from the Khalili Collection provide a rare overview of the field

64 The palmy days of Persian design

Moya Carey

An adapted extract from Tulips and Peacocks: William Morris and Art from the Islamic World

72 Magnetic attraction

Karen Horton and Ai Fukunaga

Delicate East Asian silks go on display at Dublin's Chester Beatty Museum

78 Potent symbols of home

Fuchsia Hart

A rich embroidery tradition holds together the Hazara people from Afghanistan. A display of their work is showing at the V&A in London

82 Brought to light

Michael Franes

A previously unrecorded 'Polonaise' rug, discovered during exploration for a HALI Tour

72

108

64

84 Evangelists for the unknown and unseen

Dominic Lutyens

The Book of Textiles seeks to open the eyes of the widest possible public to the beauty of textiles

94 Classic opportunity

Mark Berkovich and Michael Franses

The first chance since the 1970s to view a valuable collection of classical carpets

102 Cover story

Chris Hall

Fukusa: unique Japanese silks used to enhance the gifts they delicately packaged

108 Reflections on forgotten carpets

Turaj Zhuleh

The story of two carpets, each once housed in a Hall of Mirrors at Tehran's Golestan Palace

120 Homage to Anatolia

Ben Evans

When will Turkey fully embrace its most influential artform—the kilim?

126 Sheila Hicks: thread, colour, surface, space

Alan Kennedy and Joan Simon

Having just reached the age of ninety, the American artist Sheila Hicks has been preparing for a major series of exhibitions

Reviews

134 Book reviews

From the Periphery to Center Stage: Rugs of the Kirghiz and Nearby Peoples; Saryk; Turkmen Engsi; Tekke Chuval and Wedding Rugs by David d'Heurle, reviewed by Tom Cole; The Royal Inca Tunic: A Biography of an Andean Masterpiece by Andrew James Hamilton, reviewed by Michael F. Rohde; The Fabric of Civilization: How Textiles Made the World by Virginia Postrel, reviewed by Nancy Arthur Hoskins

144 Exhibition reviews

'The Magic of Line and Colour', All-Russian Decorative Art Museum, Moscow, reviewed by Natalia Glazovskaya; 'Forms of Prayer', San Salvatore Monastery, Brescia, reviewed by Ella Haig

Marketplace

150 Auctions

Christie's upcoming sale including textiles, rugs and carpets

152 Exhibitions

Ivan Christensen

'Kilims' at Blaafarveværket, Nyfossum, Norway

154 Auction Price Guide

International auction results of note

160 Last page

The reopening of the Peabody Museum's Hall of the Pacific has put on display objects not seen for decades

